Only the Arguments Remain in the Leonard Case.

CONTESTANTS WANT A VERDICT

Without Allowing the Jury to Consider the Same—The Leonard Trial Approaches its Close.

Yesterday afternoon Attorney McGarry began an argument to have the Leonard case taken from the jury and have the petition dismissed. It was not finished when court adjourned and will be continued this morning and, if overruled, the arguments will begin. George H. Allen was put on the stand again yesterday morning to shed light upon the financial affairs of the firm. He testified that Frank's capital January 1, 1892, in the firm was $67,326.78, and expenses for the six years since Fred retired $29,999.50. Fred's capital was $78,172.44, and his expenses $21,000. Charles' capital is $142,035.29. In 1886 their respective capitals were: Charles $49,346, Frank $25,528.43, and Fred $11,366.46. The income of each last year were: Charles $22,449.95, Frank $12,726.18, and Fred $13,694.91. The witness produced the firm's books in regard to the financial standing of the firm and to explain certain discrepancies which seemed to exist.

After John Clay, the lithographer, had sworn that the letter Fred had produced in court as evidence and dated in January could not have been written until some time in the summer, as the particular lithograph on the letter head was made by him after January, the court adjourned until afternoon.

Shows by the Books.

Cashier Allen was on the stand again in the afternoon. He said that Fred's earnings from his capital for the several years is $65,992.68; that Fred has no source of income save from the business of H. Leonard Sons & Co. Mr. Allen had his statements drawn from the books, and he gave calculations on the capital, profits and expenses of the three brothers for each year since Fred had ceased taking an active interest in the business. The ledger in which are the accounts referred to was offered in evidence.

The statement, which is a summary of the books already offered, was also put in evidence.

Barbers Testify Again.

Mr. Allen was excused to do some further calculations, and Andy Myers, the barber, was recalled for further cross-examination. Witness had at various times, while he was working at Sweet's hotel, told Mr. LaLone that he felt sorry for Fred, but he never told anyone that Fred was insane or would soon be in an asylum. J. E. LaLone, proprietor of the Morton house barber shop, was called. He had known Fred since 1887. Had frequently talked with Andy about Fred's condition. Andy had told witness that it would not be long before Fred would be dead or in an asylum.

A Detroit Witness.

H. P. Hunt of Detroit was invited to the stand. He was formerly business manager of the Happy Home club. Became acquainted with Fred when Fred was at the British-American. Visited Fred in Windsor; sent an attendant to him and treated him for alcoholism. Had conversed with Fred regarding his wealth; Fred told him of the gold mines. Mrs. Leonard had paid witness for treating her husband. Noted that Fred was of unsound mind. About 5 per cent of his patients were cured; that the 95 per cent who backed out had no brains. On cross-examination he said he was a newspaper man, engaged in "chasing items" for the Sunday Star. Had worked on the Tribune six months and the News six weeks. Witness had not come to Grand Rapids with Detective Morse, and he had not been at work on the case. Witness had accompanied Mrs. Leonard to the bank and identified her, when she presented drafts. Fred never got any of the money. Witness had been "cured" of the liquor habit, but took a drink occasionally. His periodical drinks covered a period of about seven years. Witness had talked with no one regarding the case; had not been subpoenaed as a witness; did not know Mr. Smiley or Mr. Wain, or Frank or Charles Leonard. Mr. McGarry then rested the case.

Morse for a Verdict.

Mr. McGarry asked the court to direct a verdict for the contestants, stating that the probate court, which made the original order, had no jurisdiction, and that the order was null and void. He said that the proof was conclusive that Judge Perkins was a stockholder in the Michigan Trust company, Fred's guardian. He claimed that the trust company, being a corporation, was not qualified to act as guardian for an incompetent person, and that the law under which the trust company is incorporated is unconstitutional and therefore void. Mr. McGarry spoke for some time, and will close his arguments to the judge this morning.

Minor Court Notes.

Judge Perkins yesterday made an order admitting Peter Brander to the insane asylum at Kalamazoo. Peter has been in this country since 1868, and has never been known to work since he first appeared in this part of the country, but has lived on charity.
E. A. Glasford of Bluffton, Mich., was convicted in Uncle Sam's court yesterday of making false returns to the postoffice department from the Bluffton office, where he held the position of postmaster.

Anna Ter Kist, charged with stealing from the money drawer of James Ringleberg, waived further examination in police court yesterday, and was held for trial at the present term of the superior court.

The jury which tried the opening of an alley west of Canal street, from Huron street to Erie street, returned a verdict of $6,000.87 damages yesterday.

E. S. Shepard was convicted in the United States court yesterday of selling liquor without paying the United States tax.

Ida C. Morse filed a bill in the superior court asking for a divorce from N. W.
Morse. The particulars are suppressed.

Eruption of the Skin Cured.

Ed Veonay, Brockville, Ontario, Canada, says:

"I have used Brandreth's pills for the past fifteen years, and think them the best cathartic and anti-bilious remedy known. For some five years I suffered with an eruption of the skin that gave me great pain and annoyance. I tried different blood remedies, but, although gaining strength the itching was unrelieved. I finally concluded to take a thorough course of Brandreth's pills. I took six each night for four nights, then five, four, three, two, lessening each time by one, and then for one month took one every night, with the happy result that now my skin is perfectly clear and has been so ever since."

Climatology.

Increased attention is being paid to this important subject. A chair of "Climatology" has been recently founded at the Rush Medical college, in Chicago. Most conservative physicians prefer to send people with catarrh, delicate throats or lungs to the balmy air of the south, provided the circulating air of the sea can be included. This admirable and necessary combination is furnished the Northerner at North Galveston, a few miles north of Galveston proper, on the sheltered and beautiful Galveston bay.
The North Galveston association is prepared to furnish opportunities of a lifetime to the investor; the merchant; the artisan; the invalid—or to any person whose life is a charming, bracing climate is desirable. Call upon or write their Grand Rapids agent, W. H.
Scribner, for full information.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the several attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of the state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review.
Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and made of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful, and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine, and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr.
Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. For sale by F. J. Wursburg, druggist, 58 Monroe street.

When on a visit to Iowa, Mr. N. Dal-lain & Co., Des Moines, to show them his six-year-old boy, whose life had been saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I having cured him of a very severe attack of croup. Mr. Dalton is certain that it saved his boy's life and is enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy. For sale by F. J. Wurs-

We Struck a Bonanza

A large retailer in Chicago ordered 1,000 Plush Jackets in our factory about twenty days ago. After being delivered to him he found some of them shorter than the order called for. The manager here happened to be at the factory when they were returned. The house did not want to keep them at the factory and were willing to sacrifice a good deal. Mr.
Wolf, the manager here, took advantage of it and will place them on sale
